What can an Eagle Eye Photo Sealed coin mean to you:

- Your coins are looked at personally by Richard Snow. If they qualify for Photo Seal you can be assured that your coins are properly graded or premium quality for the grade indicated on the holder.
- You get an attractive laminated obverse photo of your coin showing our seal. Approved coins ID#s are entered into our computer database. Rick Snow's original signature in red ink will show on the back of the photo certificate.
- Photo Sealed coins typically bring premium prices.
- We will keep a population of Photo Sealed coins.
- Major variety information will be noted on the holder and show up on the Photograph.

Thank you for submitting your coins to Eagle Eye Photo Seal for our inspection.

When a coin receives The Photo Seal, it means that in the opinion of Eagle Eye Rare Coins, Inc. the coin is an above average or premium quality coin for the grade assigned and the coin qualifies for the Eagle Eye high bid.

Eagle Eye is always interested in purchasing Photo Sealed coins subject to our inventory needs and market conditions.

If a coin does not receive the Eagle Eye Seal, it means that the coin does not meet Eagle Eye Rare Coins, Inc.'s criteria for the Eagle Eye high bid. Our opinion does not serve to "Re-grade" any coin submitted, nor does our opinion change or nullify the coin's assigned grade.

The value of any coin is dependent on the market conditions and can fluctuate over time. Our Photo Seal is not a guarantee that the value of any coin which receives our certificate will increase or even maintain the same value as when it received the Photo Seal Certificate.
